

AMERICANS PRAISE GERMAN EMPEROR ON REIGN OF PEACE

Delegation Headed by Andrew Carnegie Presents Him With Congratulatory Address.

CELEBRATION TO-DAY.

Rulers of Twenty-Five States That Make Up German Empire Visit the Kaiser.

BERLIN, June 15.—The jubilee celebration marking the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Emperor Wilhelm II. to the throne and the fulfillment of his ambition to rule a quarter century without war reached its height to-day when the rulers of the other twenty-five states that with Prussia go to make up the German Empire, came to Berlin personally to congratulate the Kaiser.

The Kaiser and Kaiserin motored in early from Potsdam, and after passing through the Thiergarten and Unter den Linden, where again they were cheered to the echo, went to the new palace. There they received the Kings of Wurtemberg and Saxony, Prince Regent Ludwig of Bavaria and all other dukes and princes reigning over the States, duchies and principalities.

CARNEGIE PRESENTS THE ADDRESS OF AMERICANS.

One of the first delegations received by Emperor William to-day was that headed by Andrew Carnegie, who presented him the following signed by a large number of representative Americans:

"To His Imperial Majesty the German Emperor:

"On behalf of organizations and societies which represent the effort of American citizens of every section, creed and race to advance the cause of civilization, we venture to express to your Imperial Majesty our congratulations upon a reign notable in countless ways, in none more so than in the maintenance of twenty-five years of unbroken peace between Germany and the other nations of the world.

"The memorable words of Your Majesty shortly after ascending the throne, 'The peace of my country is sacred to me,' came both from the head and from the heart. Sacred indeed the peace, the order, and the prosperity of the German people have been. More than once during the past twenty-five years it has been the high privilege of Your Majesty not only to exercise peaceful forbearance, but to inspire it in others.

"We beg to tender our thanks to Your Imperial Majesty for what you have done to prevent war and to advance the coming of the day when there shall be peace upon earth to men of good will.

CONDEMNATION OF THE GERMAN CONSTANTLY IMPROVES.

"In addition to the preservation of international peace, we know well that every department of government has received and is receiving your sympathetic co-operation. The remarkable developments in the commerce and the manufacturing industries of Germany and the improvement of agriculture are due to Your Majesty's judicious and unwearied efforts. During Your Majesty's reign the condition of the masses of the German people has steadily improved. Their education is now better and more practically helpful than ever before.

"The laws for the protection of the public health, for the compensation and care of the aged, the injured, and the incapable, are all due in large measure to Your Majesty's support and approval.

"The increasing population and the growing wealth of Germany under improving conditions of life and of labor are an impressive tribute to Your Majesty's labors for your people's good.

"Those of us engaged in the development of the industries, the commerce, the education, the science and arts of your country, and in promoting as far as lies in our power the brotherhood of man, unite in expressing to Your Majesty our sense of obligation for the example your reign of twenty-five years has set.

"We congratulate Your Majesty upon the notable advance made by Germany in every field of human effort during your peaceful, prosperous and civilizing reign. Long may it continue unbroken!"

MILITARY BANDS MARCHED IN THE CASTLE COURTYARD.

The day began with a "general reveille." The massed military bands from the division of the Guards summoned the Emperor to his window with deafening music played in the inner courtyard of the castle. The bandmen then paraded from the castle to the Brandenburg Gate, at the other end of Unter den Linden, and back again, playing popular melodies and military marches.

In the meantime 7,000 school children had replaced the bandmen in the castle courtyard, where they sang several songs, to the evident pleasure of the Emperor.

The reception of deputations and the presentation of loyal addresses began at 10 o'clock, but was interrupted from 11 o'clock till 1 o'clock by His Majesty's reception of representatives of the Government offices, the army and navy, the Parliament and various municipalities.

The impressive ceremony of the mounting of the castle guard and the inspection of the imperial family at the castle followed.

The array of deputations seemed un-

most endless. The delegates represented organizations of every kind, and all brought with them illuminated addresses, while some of them conveyed handsome gifts to the Emperor, despite his declaration that he did not wish money to be spent in this way, but rather devoted to philanthropy.

MORE THAN $6,000,000 RAISED FOR CHARITY AND SCHOOLS.

The most imposing testimonials were the endowment of $6,500,000 raised by the German municipalities for charitable and educational establishments and the national subscription of $600,000 devoted to German Christian missions, in which Catholics and Protestants participated, the Catholics raising $325,000 and the Protestants $275,000.

The German army presented His Majesty with a field marshal's staff and the navy with a great silver eagle.

The Emperor spoke to each deputation a word or two of thanks.

The weather carried out the Hohenzollern tradition, being sunny and warm, and spectators stood throughout the day in thousands around the castle and along the principal thoroughfares.

TO A DELEGATION FROM THE BRITISH CHURCH IN BERLIN, RECEIVED BY HIS MAJESTY THIS AFTERNOON, THE EMPEROR SAID:

"I can assure you I shall continue to do my best to preserve peace and promote the friendly relationships existing between our two countries."

STORY OF KAISER'S ATTITUDE ON A MONARCHY.

A remarkable story showing the Emperor William's attitude toward a constitutional monarchy was related to-day. Prof. Otto Hintze, professor of constitutional and administrative history, declared that the Emperor himself had told him years ago how he had first disapproved and then destroyed the standing appeal made by Frederick William IV. of Prussia to his successors to abolish the Prussian constitution.

The Emperor said the first document he found in his desk after his accession was an envelope containing the political testament of Frederick William IV., which was to be delivered to each of his successors on his accession. It urged and implored in the strongest terms the revocation of the Prussian constitution before the taking of the coronation oath by the new monarch.

Frederick William IV., who had granted the constitution to Prussia during the stormy days of the middle of the nineteenth century, always regretted his act, but did not find either the opportunity or the courage to revoke it.

"I felt as if I had a powder cask in the house, and it worried me so that I finally burned the testament."

CIRCULAR COURT HOUSE OPPOSED BY JUSTICES.

They Will, It Is Reported, Be Against Plans of Architect Lowell.

Fast upon the heels of the information that the Justices of the Supreme Court will meet late this afternoon for the purpose of passing their final judgment upon the plans for the new court house there were apparently well-defined rumors that their report will be against the plans drawn by Architect Lowell.

For some time it has been known that individual Justices have been opposed to the acceptance of these plans, which won out in the competition the result of which was announced not long ago. It was understood to-day that a majority of the Justices will vote against the final acceptance of the plans.

The main objection against the plans, which provide for a circular building, is that it would be impossible to obtain proper lighting. The Justices are said to favor some form of rectangular structure.

NEARLY TWO BILLIONS PAID OUT IN WAGES BY U. S. STEEL TRUST

Corporation Employs 221,025 Persons, at Annual Wage of $189,351,602.

William J. Filbert, Comptroller of the United States Steel Corporation, took the witness stand for the defense in the Government dissolution suit against the corporation when the hearing was resumed this morning. Mr. Filbert said that at the beginning the corporation called its auditing heads together and decided upon standard classifications of cost accounting looking to economies in the industry. At present the corporation is getting out fifty monthly cost statements. In connection with blast furnaces alone 8,000 items appear on the monthly cost sheet.

Mrs. Filbert went into a lengthy explanation of the methods employed to get accurate figures. It was from the exhibit in question that both President James H. Farrell and Judge Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Finance Committee, gave much of their evidence, showing, as they swore, that prices of steel products had tended downward since the formation of the corporation. The witness swore that in 1902 the corporation employed 158,363 persons and the annual payroll was $112,929,158. In 1912 there were 221,025 employees and the payroll was $189,351,602, an increase of 75.8 per cent. in ten years. Since the formation of the corporation it has paid out in Government, State and municipal taxes $96,575,752.

Interest on bonds and mortgages, $337,100,448.00
Dividends on corporation stock, 495,190,490.00
For assistance and welfare work, 1,270,751.98
Plus accident present and safety devices, 1911, 767,460.26
For accident present and safety devices, 1912, 814,267.20
Total wages from 1901 to 1912, 1,820,244,622.00

Voluntary accident relief fund, 8,304,321.00
Employees' stock subscription cost company, 6,219,637.90

In five years 32,348 employees have subscribed to $2,000,000 worth of stock. Mr. Filbert declared approximately $18,000,000 worth additional was to-day held by employees of the company, not being listed in the original group of purchasers.

NEATLY NABS BURGLAR.

An open rear window in the residence of John Stevens, a broker, living at No. 138 Beech street, Richmond Hill, early to-day aroused the suspicions of Policeman Hoffman, who waited at the window like a cat at a mousehole. Presently a man jumped out.

Hoffman seized him and there was a brief struggle. The policeman drew his revolver and the man surrendered. He carried a bag of jewelry—rings, bracelets and ornaments—estimated to be worth $600. The Stevens family was absent from home over Sunday.

At the Richmond Hill police station the prisoner said he was Benjamin Hyde of No. 140 Norfolk street, Manhattan. He had a "pal," he said, who was to have met him in Jamaica. A search was made for "the pal" but he was not found.

TWO BOYS DROWNED AS LAUNCH RACES TO RESCUE.

Hero Who Tried to Save Companion Dragged Down by Death Grip—Bodies Washed Ashore.

With a launch speeding to the rescue from the Bergen Beach Yacht Club two lads, one apparently desperately fighting to save the other, were drowned to-day a few hundred feet off shore in full sight of a hundred or more spectators. When the bodies floated into the beach cards were found in the dead youths' pockets, reading "Edward Adams" and "Raymond Piert."

Positive identification of the drowned boys was made by the police. Adams lived at No. 49 Bleecker street and Piert at No. 375 Van Cortlandt avenue, both in Brooklyn. They had gone with two other boys to Canarsie, where they hired a boat and rowed to Bergen Beach for a swim.

Commander Hildebrand of the yacht club heard the cries from the water and the shouts of the spectators and put out in a launch with three of the club employees. They reached the approximate spot where the struggling swimmers disappeared but could not find the bodies.

Spectators agreed that one of the lads, who appeared to be about 17, began to sink and shout for help and that his companion, apparently about 19 years old, went to his aid and was clutched in a death grip he could not break.

SAVES DROWNING MAN.

Policeman in Swimming Dives for Tailor in Pelham Bay.

Salvatore Colucci, a tailor, of No. 559 East One Hundred and Eighty-seventh street, got a cramp while he was swimming in Pelham Bay off Pelham Bay Park to-day and sank about twenty-five feet from the dock. Policeman Louis Moses of the Morrisania station, who was on his vacation and had gone swimming in the same place, made for the spot where Colucci had sunk, dived for him and brought him unconscious to the dock.

After two surgeons from Fordham Hospital had supplemented the work of resuscitation the policeman himself began Colucci was able to go to his home.

Henry Clews Is Sued.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ROME, N. Y., June 15.—Joseph D. Hall of this city, negro laborer, has brought action against Henry Clews, millionaire financier of New York, claiming damages of $10,000 for slander of Hall's title of real estate and of his name and character.

Trouble started when Mr. Clews, through his attorney, Milo J. White, served notice on Hall to vacate his title home here. It was claimed that title was held by Mr. Clews and Hall was a squatter. In a counter action Hall got judgment and his title but the costs fell on him.

SO FAR SIX WOMEN CLAIM ROSSELLE AS THEIR HUSBAND

More to Be Heard From, It Is Thought, but Dapper Bigamist Just Smiles.

In Charles Roselle, otherwise Oscar Roderick, now in the Tombs awaiting indictment by the Grand Jury, Assistant District Attorney Joseph Du Vivier is confident that the law has in its toils an arch bigamist. Six women, so far, lay claim to Roselle as their husband, and, according to the information on hand, Mr. Du Vivier is of the opinion that there are at least six more who have not as yet been heard from.

If this should meet the eye of any woman, young or old, who at some period in her life has stood at the altar with Roselle let her communicate with Mr. Du Vivier. He is anxious, not so much for his own information, but for the records of the law to know how many women Roselle really did marry.

Roselle is in the Tombs on the complaint of his latest bride, who was a Mrs. Mary Barry, with five young Barrys, of No. 1842 St. Anthony avenue, the Bronx. Mrs. Barry was married to Roselle, who was known to her under the name of Roderick, on May 2. Two days later Mrs. Ida Boyle Roselle of No. 1088 Webster avenue, appeared at the former widow's home and claimed the bridegroom as her husband. She said that Roselle, or Roderick, had married her Feb. 18, 1912. As the result the two women went before Magistrate Corrigan and got a warrant for their husband's arrest. When the police executed the warrant Roselle tried to escape, clad only in pajamas, through a second-story window. The pajamas were a symphony in pink, embroidered and trimmed with point lace and ribbons.

Since Roselle has been in the Tombs the police and the District Attorney's office have been active in looking up his record. Not since the days of Arthur Witzoff, the barber who married thirty-two women in this country and then fled to England, where he married almost as many more before being captured, has so reckless a bigamist been caught.

The records so far examined disclose that on Feb. 11, 1908, Roselle, a decorator by profession, married Louisa Moix of No. 28 Broome street. He lived with her a few years and then fled. On July 30, 1906, he married Mary McNamara of No. 1009 Park avenue. Some time later he took his wife Marie Maxman of No. 90 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street. Adie became suspicious when he tried to induce her to turn over what money she had to him, with the result that on Dec. 19, 1906, she caused his arrest for bigamy and he was sent to State prison for three years.

After his release Roselle continued his conquests, marrying Ida Boyle, Mrs. Barry, and it is thought several others who have not yet been heard from.

In the Tombs Roselle simply smiles when questioned concerning his love affairs. He is a dapper-looking individual about forty-three years old and wears his age well. The Grand Jury is considering his case to-day.

DELLA FOX, FAVORITE IN MUSICAL COMEDY OF YEARS AGO, IS DEAD

DELLA FOX.

Glass of Cold Milk Brings on Indigestion and Kills Actress.

Della Fox, who was the pet of musical comedy audiences twenty years ago, died to-day at Miss M. E. O'Brien's private hospital at No. 154 West One Hundred and Seventy-sixth street. She was attacked by acute indigestion after drinking a glass of cold milk Saturday afternoon when she was much better.

Her sister, Mrs. Nat Roth, who was with her, called a physician, who had taken to Miss O'Brien's hospital. Her husband, "Jack" Levy, from whom the actress had been separated for several years, did not know of her illness until her death.

Miss Fox, after several years of striving work up through the chorus to small parts, became a popular figure on the stage when she took the part of the Crown Prince in "Wang," in which De Wolf Hopper reached the summit of his success. In a gay out of "The Little Hopper" and the rest of the "Wang" soft but lively melody until she came all the way from the Rocky Mountains to hear her.

Born in St. Louis in 1871 Miss Fox began her stage career at nine years of age, supporting James O'Neill in "A Celebrated Case." She worked with the Bennett Moultou and Comstock light opera organization before she joined De Wolf Hopper. "Wang," "Panandrum," "The Little Hopper," "Flour-de-Lis," "The Wedding Song" and "The Little Host" were among which added to her fame and popularity.

A severe illness in 1909 kept her from the stage except at short intervals until 1908, when she returned by way of the vaudeville theater. She undertook a role in the male-dominated production of Charles Frohman, "Hearts As Trumps," and was successful. Her last appearance here was in the revival of "Rosalinda" last spring at the Lyric Theater. She was married to Mr. Levy in 1900.

FALLS OUT OF COASTER CAR.

Larsen, Who Is Mortally Injured.

While riding alone in a roller coaster on Hillside Park, near Belleville, N. Y., shortly after midnight Saturday, Mrs. McLaren of No. 45 Ralph street, Belleville, fell from the car while it was on the upper curve, sixty feet from the ground. McLaren landed on the lower track, directly in front of another car, which knocked him to one side. The players of the coaster lowered him, conscious to the ground with ropes. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, where it was found he had a fractured skull and internal injuries and will probably die.
